This Victorian-style novel has everything: a lady scientist and her obsession with moss, Darwin, Tahiti, abolitionists, lovely writing, ships, botany, stern Dutch mothers. And the wettest State of all?

A little girl named Alice tumbled down a rabbit hole and proceeded to have a chaotic life. Then she meets Matt, a funny and rebellious fourteen-year-old with family troubles of his. He was sent to finish his education in Sydney, where he eventually worked as a lawyer. Lottie project, The Miss Beckworth insists on calling her by her proper name, Charlotte, and makes her sit next to Jamie Edwards, the most stuck-up, boring boy in the class. This book kept me interested from the beginning right to end. The Shadow.
